HORUS 2014

The tender for the Slovenian Award for Corporate Social Responsibility HORUS 2014 is published

With the call for HORUS (which runs until 15 October 2014) partners seek out and reward comprehensive approach to corporate social responsibility of legal persons and individuals. This year, the award candidates can also be social enterprises.

(Maribor, 1 July 2014) - IRDO - Institute for the Development of Social Responsibility and PRSS - Slovenian Association for Public Relations are under the honorary patronage of the President of the Republic of Slovenia, Borut Pahor, and in partnership with a number of professional organizations concerned, issued a call for the Slovenian award for social responsibility - HORUS 2014. Call for Horus is published for the sixth consecutive year.

With tender HORUS partners want to identify and reward comprehensive approaches of legal entities and individuals to corporate social responsibility. The questionnaire was this year adapted with guidelines from the standard of social responsibility ISO 26000. A company or institution can by completing a questionnaire help itself to analyze existing and develop future strategy of social responsibility. For Horus 2014 may qualify: businesses (small, medium, large, and for the first time also social enterprises) and institutions.

Published are also three calls for special recognition: a special recognition to an individual or organization that operates in the context of social responsibility, a special recognition for journalist and in collaboration with the Government Office for Slovenians Abroad also Call for special recognition for Slovenes Abroad. The call runs until 15 October 2014, all the information about the prize HORUS are available on the website www.horus.si or by e-mail: nagrada.horus@irdo.si.
